

Let me just say this in closing. I just got back from a very moving trip to Europe. I went to the Baltic countries, the first American President ever to be there, as the Russian armies are withdrawing, thanks in large measure to our efforts. I went to Berlin and was the first American President ever to be able to speak in the Eastern part of Berlin, with over 100,000 people there. And I met with three big groups of our military men and women and their families, their spouses, and their children, three big groups, enthusiastic crowds. And I was shocked. They only asked me about one issue—one—our military families. They said, “Please, Mr. President, a lot of us have to leave the service, a lot of us are coming home. We had health care in the service. Don’t let us come home to America that we served that won’t give our children health insurance. Don’t let us do that.” That’s all they talked about.

So I tell you, folks, we’ve made changes in our plan. We’ve made it better for small business, more flexibility, guaranteed even more choices. And I want to challenge the people in Congress, especially the Members of the other party, not to pass a program that claims to do something it doesn’t do. Let’s don’t burn the middle class one more time. Let’s help the middle class. Let’s help small business. Let’s provide health care to all Americans. We can do it. Other nations have done it, and we can do it, too.

Thank you, and God bless you all.

NOTE: The President spoke at 1:28 p.m. at Greensburg Courthouse Square. In his remarks, he referred to Mayor Daniel Fajt of Greensburg, and residents Louise Mastowski and Lynn Hicks.
